Washington, April 17. - Chairman

Gullett of the house committee on civil service reform recently wrote to W. D. Foulke, former civil service commis-sioner, calling his attention to the re-cent congressional and other criticisms of President Roosevelt on the ground that he had made a larger number of irregular appointments to the classified service than any of his predecessors, and in view of the fact that the period covered was while Foulke was commissioner, asking his opinion of the charges. In Mr. Foulke's letter, under date of April 15, he wrote "The fact is exactly the other way. There have been fewer appointments without competitive examination under

Mrs. Thomas Fitch's Death Removes a Talented Authoress.

Mrs. Anna M. Fitch, wife of Thomas Fitch, who died in Los Angeles, Cal. April 15, possessed more than ordinary bunk house, cottage for the mine foreman, new office building, and an ice-house than a local reputation in the production of poems and literary papers. Here earliest poem, "The Song of the Flume," was commented upon editorially by William Cullen Bryant as descrying to rank as a classic. Other poems from her pen of merit are "The Flag on Fire," "Woman's Destiny," and "Over the Hill." "Bound Down," a novel, was published by Lippincott & Co., and Putnam & Sons published a novel in verse, "The Loves of Paul Fenly."

Mrs. Fitch had been in ill-health for several years. Death resulted from Bright's disease, brought on by an attack of typhoid fever a few months ago. Mrs. Fitch was a native of Vermont. She was married in San Francisco Jan. 1. 1863. The family left Salt Lake three years ago for Honolulu and returned to California late in 1962.

Must Not Ride on Sidewalks in Restricted Districts.

Chief of Polic W. J. Lynch issued orders to the police force last night to enforce the ordinance against riding bleycles on the sidewalks in the restricted districts. During the spring, before the streets in the restricted districts were in condition to ride on, the last two weeks have dried them up and hereafter they must be used.

Iron ore deposits of considerable promise have long been known in the Iron mountain district of Iron and Washington counties, Utah, but because of their remoteness from railways and from the principal coking, manufacturing and consuming centers, they received little general attention until the latter part of the last decade, when developments in the iron and steel industry made it necessary to look out-

Asphaltum company mine at Fort Duchesne which is known as the old St. Louis mine. I found the mine had been closed down and all the electric lights had been taken out and also the ladders had been taken out so that no entrance to the mine can be obtained. There were twenty-five men employed here, but they are now all laid off. All the machinery and tools are being taken over on White river to be used at the new mines that this company is opening up there. The reason they give for doing this is that they will have a railroad connection with the Rio Grande Western and the white river mines by the first of August which will make a great reduction in the transportation, as well as an increase in the product.

"I also made a visit to the Pariette mine some thirty miles south of Fort Duchesne. This mine is working three shifts, full time, with twenty-five men employed and a large number of the classified service.

"Heretofore extensions of the classified service have usually taken place rear the close of an administration and the exceptions made soon after the new administration commenced. But President Roosevelt, at the very beginning of his administration, began to extend the number of competitive positions and to strengthen the rules. He also dealt out summary justice to offenders, several of whom held high positions in his own party."
